

COMPUTER GRAPHICS

This patented technology consists of 14 graphics processing patents, mostly relating to the architecture of graphic systems. The patented technology relates to graphics processing systems that use an on-chip memory as a frame buffer and to systems comprising multiple graphic processors. The technology has applications in high-end personal computers and gaming consoles.