

DIGITAL NEWSPAPER DELIVERY

This patented technology generally relates to the distribution of news information to subscribers via the Internet or other communication networks, such as an online newspaper. This technology can be used to send headlines or abstracts of news items with links to the full article or other related information.