

ENERGY TRADING

This patented technology generally relates to the trading of electric energy between participants such as utility companies.