

LOCATION BASED SERVICES

This patented technology generally relates to the provision of cellular location based services (LBS). More specifically, the technology claimed by the Patents is applicable to key aspects of several LBSs, including wireless emergency (E911) Phase II service, handset based navigation, and many other LBSs that rely on knowing the precise location of a mobile user.