

PEER TO PEER COMMUNICATIONS

This patented technology generally relates to network communications between two devices. This technology can be used by the owners of network devices, such as computers or MP3 players, to share music, photos, or other content with each other.