

RESOURCE SCHEDULING

This patented technology generally relates to methods and software application tools for scheduling and managing resources used in manufacturing facilities, hospital facilities, fleet delivery organizations, and other resource-dependent markets. These resource scheduling tools can be integrated as part of an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) solution used to manage a company's complete operations.