

VIDEO ENCODING

This patented technology generally relates to the encoding of video and tracking of video objects used in television and motion picture applications.