

VIRTUAL COMPUTER WORKSPACES

This patented technology generally relates to the virtualization of multiple workspaces and their associated system resources. This technology can be used by a computer user to create multiple views on their desktop computer or server and is applicable to a variety of markets from enterprise server and software products to virtual reality and video games.