

VIRTUAL SERVER

This patented technology generally relates to server virtualization. This technology can be used as a hardware replacement in enterprise, telecommunications, and ISP applications to consolidate servers and to centralize infrastructure management.