

WIRELESS LAN

This patented technology generally relates to wireless local area networking (WLAN) and includes communications architectures for use in spread spectrum systems. This technology can be used in equipment such as laptops, wireless routers, access points, handsets and other consumer electronics devices with WLAN capability.